

Member Spotlight

Tina Fissler The Netherlands

I was born and grew up in an idyllic and rurally situated area in the middle of Germany. When I was five years old, my mother began to take her first riding lessons. She took me with her to the local riding and driving club, where I soon felt at home and here my love of horse riding was born. During my school years, I spent every possible free minute in the horse barn. After completing my

“If mankind has ever been judged on the size of conquest, the greatest would be a true friendship with the horse”

Quotation of Comte de Buffon

schooling I did my apprenticeship as a bank clerk and moved with my big horses to the Netherlands where I could find a beautiful barn for my jumping horses. During the last fifteen years I spent each weekend at horse shows with my jumpers but I started to feel that it was time to try something new.

Continued on page 76